

May is Melanoma Awareness Month

There is no cure and no effective medical therapy for metastatic Melanoma Cancer. No significant advances in the treatment of Melanoma have been made in over 30 years.

The James A. Schlipmann Melanoma Cancer Foundation is dedicated to raising awareness and finding a cure for this often-fatal cancer.

Startling Statistics for this Deadly Disease

Melanoma is the fastest growing cancer currently in the United States and worldwide.

Every hour of every day, someone dies of Melanoma Cancer. Melanoma strikes people of all ages, all races, all economic levels, and both sexes. It is the most common cancer in young adults aged 20-30. For women aged 25-30, Melanoma is the primary cause of cancer deaths.

More than 106,000 Americans will be diagnosed with Melanoma this year alone, and an estimated 8,000 people will die from the disease in the next 12 months. While Melanoma is the most deadly form of skin cancer, it is also preventable and treatable if caught early. But sadly, there is no cure for this aggressive disease.
